

Last update: September 2012

Eiji SATOH

Graduate School of Economics, Hitotsubashi University

FY2012 COE Young Researcher

✉ [ed072002\[at\]g.hit-u.ac.jp](mailto:ed072002[at]g.hit-u.ac.jp)

Website: <http://www.eijisatoh.com/>

Research Interests

Industrial Economics (Competition Policy, Regulatory Policy)

Education

Ph.D. in Economics, Hitotsubashi University, 2013 (expected)

M.A. in Economics, Hitotsubashi University, Tokyo, Japan, March 2007

B.A. in Economics, Kobe University, Kobe, Japan, March 2005

Teaching Experience

Hitotsubashi University (as a teaching assistant)

- Introductory Economics (from October 2011 to February 2012)
- Computer (from April 2008 to February 2009)
- Advanced Microeconomics (from April to August, 2006)

Working Papers

- Eiji Satoh (2012) “Consolidation and Scale Economies in the Japanese Sewerage Industry,” Global COE Hi-Stat Discussion Paper Series # 240.
- Eiji Satoh (2011) “Nontransferable Water Rights and Technical Inefficiency in the Japanese Water Supply Industry,” Global COE Hi-Stat Discussion Paper Series # 211.
- Eiji Satoh (2011) “Territorial Restrictions and Consumer Welfare in Mixed Oligopoly: The Japanese Gas Supply Market,” CPRC Discussion Paper Series # 48.

- Eiji Satoh, Kenji Matsuo, Patricia Nelson, and Yosuke Okada (2008) “Product Development Strategies and Price Dynamics: the Japanese Compact Digital Still Camera Industry, 1997-2005,” CPRC Discussion Paper Series # 35.

Membership

Japanese Economic Association